In FIFA 22, players have access to a host of new features, including:

- Broken Ball System: When a ball rolls towards a player, an elastic collision is used to determine if the player should get caught or slip by the ball.
- Defense: Players can now build up the defensive line in offensive phases. Now, players can press one another when in possession, move into defensive positions without the ball and play a more proactive role in the buildup.
- Goalkeeper: With new goalkeeper controls and techniques, you'll have more time to stop a dangerous shot and better handle rebounds. Move your mouse around the game screen or use an analog stick to cut your angles. You can even stop diving saves in FIFA.
- Fluid Interactions: Interactive elements are now more fluid and responsive, so you can enjoy fluid flicking, dipping and flowing football without lag.
- Pitch Intelligence: Patches of grass have been given a new surface treatment that makes the surface react to your dribbles, feints and tackles.
- New Ball Physics: A new, adaptive ball physics engine now powers the game. Change the weather, the wind or even the temperature to create unpredictable and dramatic environments.
