This battle was fought on the tenth day of the month Olbia's year, and was of the same nature as the battle of Epilipse, since it was a battle over territory. 10. The Etesians faced the troops of the Mysians with their golden helmets in battle; they burned their city, and captured three thousand Mysians, and slew of them twenty-nine. This is what befell many of the Mysians at the time of the battle of Epilipse. 3. But, this day, I have told you that the son of Neoptolemus, and the nephew of Alexander, and the queen mother and herself, came to the defence of the Mysians and the Epirotes, and exultingly encountered and bravely met the enemy's charge, having put
