Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020, Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children. more from Wikipedia Roblox is a free game website and online game provider that allows users to create their own 3D games and play them on any device. Users can log in with their own user name and avatar. It was founded in 2006 by David Baszucki and his friend Erik Cassel. In 2008, Roblox introduced a new platform called Blocksworld, a virtual Lego-like building game. It had its own online platform, and in February 2012, it introduced a new game, StoryMakers, which allowed users to create their own story-driven games. Development of Roblox began in 2004 at David Baszucki's apartment in New York. Roblox launched in 2006, and as of August 2020, it has more than 165 million users. Roblox is one of the most-visited websites in the world, and it claims to be the world's fourth-most-popular website, after Facebook, Google, and YouTube. Roblox has seen rapid growth since it was founded. In October 2008, the company announced that the software was downloaded a total of 500,000 times that month. In November 2010, it announced that it had more than one million monthly active users. In 2012, it claimed it had 200,000 paying monthly users, a number that increased to 10 million in 2013. In July 2016, the company announced that it reached 15 million total monthly active users. The company reported it had 21 million total users in January 2018. As of
