I have been trying to learn the language by following tutorials and I have some trouble understanding why I am not getting the answer to what I am trying to learn. Specifically with and, or, and and, and if statements. And I can't seem to find any example online to explain what is going on. Below is the code that I made to try and explain what I am doing and what I am trying to learn. My issue is what it does with the || and && operators in here. It seems that it returns the output of whichever statement is on the left of the operator.

If I have this output: print (test:match "foo", "foobar") print (test:match "foo", "foooobar") it will print out foo, but if I have: print (test:match "foo", "foooobar" || "barbar") it will print out foooobar, but I was expecting it to print out barbar. I am not getting it. Is there a simple explanation as to why this is the case? Thanks for any help!

print (test:match "foo", "foobar" ) print (test:match "foo", "foooobar" ) if test:match("foo", "bar") then print("bar") elseif test:match("foo", "foobar") then print("foobar") elseif test:match("foo", "foooobar") then print("foooobar") else print("EVERYTHING ELSE!!!!!!") end
